Financial situation of the banking sector for 2023

The financial situation of the banking sector, according to data submitted by banks, is characterised by growth in assets, loans, own funds, own funds ratio, deposits of individuals, and deposits of legal entities. The profit for the year compared to the same period of the previous year increased, mainly, due to higher interest and non-interest income. Interest income increased, mainly, due to income from investments in debt securities (G-Sec, NBC) and income from lending activity.

At the same time, there was a decrease in the absolute value of expired loans, non-performing loans, therefore, the quality indicators of the loan portfolio improved.

As of December 31, 2023, 11 banks licensed by the National Bank of Moldova were active in the Republic of Moldova.

Thus, the value of the long-term liquidity indicator (liquidity principle I) was 0,69 (limit ≤ 1), ranging from 0,31 to 0,83, depending on the bank, increasing by 0,02 as compared to the end of 2022.

Liquidity Principle III, which is the ratio of adjusted effective liquidity to required liquidity on each maturity band and which should not be less than 1 on each maturity band, has also been complied with by all banks, ranging from 1.48 on the maturity band up to one month inclusive up to 124,33 on the maturity band between one month and three months inclusive.

The liquidity coverage ratio by sector amounted to 282,3% (limit $\geq 100\%$ - starting with 1 January 2023), ranging from 195,5% to 661,6%, increasing by 46,8 pp compared to the end of 2022.

All banks met the indicator "Total own funds ratio" ($\geq 10\%$).

As of December 31, 2023, total own funds amounted to MDL 20 947,3 million and registered an increase of 14,1% (MDL 2 589,9 million). The increase in own funds was mainly determined by the reflection by some banks of eligible profits after the general meetings of shareholders and after obtaining the permission of the NBM to include the profits earned in own funds. At the same time, there was an increase in the positive difference between allowances for losses on assets and contingent liabilities and the size of allowances for impairment losses on assets and loss provisions.

As of December 31, 2023, the banks complied with the prudential indicators regarding large exposures and exposures to their affiliates, with the exception of one bank, which exceeded the limit of 30% on the aggregate amount of credit exposure to clients or to a group of connected clients, constituting by size the top ten loan exposure in the total loan portfolio, accounting for 46,2%. In accordance with chapter IV paragraph 26 of the Regulation on Large Exposures No 109 of April 5, 2019, exceeding the limit of the said indicator shall not be considered a breach if the bank maintains an additional own funds requirement on the relevant surplus and the bank meets these requirements.

All banks also complied with the limit of dominance in the banking market, being under the 35% limit of this indicator according to the size of individuals' deposits.

Development of the national legislative framework and its alignment with the EU legislation.

During 2023, the National Bank of Moldova (NBM) continued the activities related to the elaboration and updating of secondary normative acts for the implementation of Law No 202/2017 on the activity of banks and promotion of Basel III requirements.
