Anca Dragu, at NewMoney Talks: The Republic of Moldova offers a significant potential for investors

Today, the Governor of the National Bank of Moldova, Anca Dragu, took part with a brief intervention, through online connection, at the NewMoney Talks conference, which took place in Bucharest. Within the event it was officially launched the Entrepreneurs Barometer NewMoney and INSCOP, with a special passage dedicated to the Republic of Moldova.

In her presentation, the NBM Governor referred to the opportunities of the business sector in the context of the European Union integration process: "Moldova offers opportunities to investors through macroeconomic stability, SEPA integration and the development of the capital market, facilitating cross-border financial transactions and investments."

Anca Dragu emphasized that the potential for investors is due to the proximity to the European Market, developed commercial relations and macroeconomic stability. At the same time, NBM supports the development of the capital market, easing the access to financing and promoting technological innovations in financial sectors, offering innovative financial platforms and a strong banking system.

Anca Dragu emphasized the essential role of the central bank in the process of preparing the Republic of Moldova for EU accession, given its powers regarding monetary policy and the financial sector. In this sense, the continuous alignment of the national financial system with European standards offers investors the opportunity to develop business in Moldova based on rules similar to those in the EU. This harmonization with EU legislation will amplify in the coming period, considering that the Republic of Moldova, a candidate state for EU accession, initiated accession negotiations in June 2024, and is currently engaged in an extensive dialogue with the European Commission (screening) regarding the preparation level for EU accession.

Another aspect noted by Governor Anca Dragu refers to financial intermediation: "It is a central element for increasing access to financing both for the private sector and for individuals. The NBM focuses its efforts on enhancing the banking system and diversifying funding sources through policies and regulations that support the competitiveness of the financial market. Through a more efficient financial intermediation, entrepreneurs and consumers can access the resources necessary for development, in transparency and stability conditions".
